

ixmation

Company Profile

ixmation Seckler systems is a global, Swiss-based manufacturer of individually designed automation systems in the field of handling technology. Our main activity is the development and manufacture of fully-automated machines to mass-produce high-precision components, especially in dirty and wet environments.

Components handled by ixmation Seckler systems range in size from one gram to several kilograms,

- Automation: even in dirty and wet environments
- Wide range of components from grams to kilograms
- The same key account team accompanies the project throughout the planning phase
- Customer loyalty, with technological details handled in the strictest confidence
- High level of customer confidence built on neutrality, competence, precision, dependability and delivery reliability
- Local representative offices in 20 markets and separate branches in the USA and China
- Stable company with 30 years of tradition

ixmation Seckler systems machines are a major asset when it comes to designing and developing specific applications in the following sectors:

- Automobile industry
- Hydraulics/pneumatics
- Medical technology
- Consumer goods/household
- Watch/jewellery

ixmation Seckler systems has been successfully designing and building automation systems for the automobile industry for more than 20 years. In particular, ixmation Seckler systems has made a name for itself having gained a global foothold with high-precision handling systems in the booming market of